

THE HONEYCOMB BRIEF: ONE MANS STRUGGLE

British architect James OHara conceives of a futuristic plan for a unique theme park. The function of Honeycomb Park is for all its projected ?200m a year profits to go to five British good causes. The park revives an interest in the history and geography of a once great nation in an entertaining way.

Due to its altruistic nature backers for the ?450m project are impossible to find. Financiers are not interested in charities, they want profits. He is on the point of giving up when he meets Kate Shields. She has the contacts he needs to resurrect it. Together they gather a team around them to make it happen. This is a fictional tale based on the actual Honeycomb Brief sent to 10 Downing Street. It describes the major hurdles they have to overcome on the journey to their goal. Growing ever closer together as they try to conquer each one in turn.
